Who's who MIP

Executive Master
for International Players
Fourth edition, 2021-23

New challenges can be daunting. After so many years excelling in one profession, it is not easy to start a new chapter. However, turning the page does not mean turning your back on football. It is clear to me that the skills you gained during your illustrious career can be turned to another aspect of the game you love.

That is where the UEFA Executive Master for International Players (UEFA MIP) comes in. Along with our academic and football partners, we have created a programme that gives former elite players the necessary resources to keep working in the sport they love, even after they have decided to hang up their boots.

The core element of the UEFA MIP is the belief that football always comes first. During my years in football, I have seen many instances where the experience acquired by players at the peak of their club and international football careers has enabled them to make valuable contributions to the development of our beautiful game. I would like this trend to continue and grow even stronger.

So, what exactly can you expect from the programme? It will provide you with the skills you need as a future leader in football administration and management. The interactive and dynamic course sets out to help you achieve your professional goals and empower you to make positive contributions to shaping football's future.

UEFA knows that your experience and expertise cannot go to waste, and that is why we encourage you to play an influential role in the world of football. As you take this step towards a new chapter in your life, we will be there to support you and, together, we will ensure that the game keeps the core values that have made it the most popular sport in the world.

Aleksander Čeferin
UEFA President
